The following code, implemented in Python 3 using object-oriented design, is a Texas Hold Em' program. To play the game, run the main.py file. When given two hole cards and a community card set, the player must decide which stud hand, when combined with the community cards, yields a better 5-card combination.

Enjoy!